Force Wool Longsleeve is made from soft and comfortable merino wool, known for its unique properties. It effectively insulates even when damp and regulates temperature in any condition. With antibacterial properties, the shirt can be worn multiple times without worrying about odor, saving you laundry, time, and being environmentally friendly.

With a close-fitting shape, the shirt is perfect as a base layer against the body, providing freedom of movement while insulating in the winter and keeping you regulated in the summer. The garment is produced using 17.5-micron fibers - extra fine wool fibers - giving it exceptional softness and comfort. This quality is unmatched when it comes to the combination of temperature regulation and moisture absorption.

The material in this garment has been tested according to the EN ISO 15025:2016 standard and demonstrates limited flame spread. Note: It is not certified as personal protective equipment (PPE).

The wool is produced according to approved environmental standards with a strong focus on animal welfare and is mulesing-free, ensuring a sustainable product choice.

Technical description: 100% Merino wool, 17,5 micron, EN ISO 15025:2016.
